Quick Setup

1. Install the EA into MetaTrader 5.
2. Enable AutoTrading.
3. Attach Quantum Scalper X to the recommended chart.
4. Load the supplied preset file.
5. Let the EA wait for a valid trading opportunity.

Main Settings Explained

Lots

Controls the size of the first trade. Larger lots increase both profit potential and risk. New users should begin with 0.01 lots and only increase after consistent results.

Magic Number

A unique identifier for the EA's trades. Use a different Magic Number on each chart or symbol to avoid conflicts.

Trade Direction

Choose Buy Only, Sell Only or Both. 'Both' is recommended for most users.

Maximum Orders

Limits how many trades the EA can open. Higher values improve recovery flexibility but increase margin usage and drawdown.

Recovery Mode

Allows additional recovery trades when the market moves against an open position. Suitable for experienced traders only.

Recovery Multiplier

Determines how much larger each recovery trade becomes. Higher values recover faster but carry higher risk.

Aggressive Mode

Uses more aggressive position management to target faster growth. Expect increased volatility and drawdown.

Spread Filter

Prevents new trades during periods of unusually high spread. Recommended to leave enabled.

Time Filter

Restricts trading to selected market sessions. Useful if you only want London or New York trading.

News Filter

Avoids opening trades around high-impact economic news, helping reduce unexpected volatility.

Recommended Settings

Profile	Suggested Configuration
Beginner	0.01 Lots • Recovery OFF • Aggressive OFF • Spread Filter ON • News Filter ON
Balanced	Default preset • Recovery ON (default) • Spread & News Filters ON
Aggressive	Aggressive Mode ON • Higher risk • Suitable only for experienced traders

Frequently Asked Questions

Why doesn't the EA trade immediately?

It waits until all entry conditions are satisfied.

Can I use multiple charts?

Yes. Assign a different Magic Number to each chart.

Should I use a VPS?

Yes. A VPS helps keep the EA running 24/5.
